Call for Papers

The Special Issue, entitled "Modelling and Nonconvex Optimization in Engineering Sciences" for NCP07

We are pleased to invite participants in the International Conference on "Nonconvex Programming: Local and Global Approaches. Theory, Algorithms and Applications" (NCP07), December 17-21, 2007, Rouen, France, to submit their papers to this special issue for the Optimization and Engineering (OPTE).

The Special Issue aims at publishing high quality papers dealing with the applications of advanced optimization and algorithms in areas, which include the topics displayed in the item "Announcement" of NCP07 website: http://ncp07.insa-rouen.fr/

All papers will go through the stringent refereeing process in accordance with the high standard of Optimization and Engineering. Papers should be prepared according to the Instructions for Authors as shown on the inside front page of Optimization and Engineering (OPTE) (see http://www.cas.mcmaster.ca/˜terlaky/OPTE/opte.html).

Please submit your papers as indicated in the website of NCP07.

The review of each submission will start as soon as it is received.

Important Dates:

March 15, 2008	:	Deadline for submitting the full papers
June 15, 2008	:	Notifying authors on the status of their paper based on the referees' reports
July 31, 2008	:	Deadline for receiving the revised manuscripts of the papers
September 30, 2008	:	Submitting the accepted papers to the Editor-in-Chief of Optimization and Engineering (OPTE)
